

World Journal News
February 5, 2011

Bronx Science High School Lunar Feast

Photo: Andrea Javaly, Mr. Hom, Amy Tenenbaum

World Journal Reporter Jen e. Fu

布朗士科學高中春節餐會

布朗士科學高中4日晚在曼哈坦華埠舉行農曆新年慶祝餐會暨年度拍賣會，以學生表演、拍賣及餐會方式慶祝農曆新年，約400位師生與家長共聚一堂主辦這次新年活動的家長Andrea Javaly表示，布朗士科學高中每年2月的第一個星期五都會舉行農曆新年慶祝會，這次能來曼哈坦華埠歡度新年感覺更是特別，今年是兔年，會場更以中文字「兔」與一個原子符號做為主題標誌，代表學校優異科學表現將在兔年更加發光發熱。紐約市主計長劉醇逸昨晚也以布朗士科學高中校友身分出席，受熱烈歡迎。圖為活動主辦者Andrea Javaly(左)、Amy Jenenbaum(右)及擔任節目籌畫的物理老師譚俊傑(中)。

(圖與文:記者簡一夫)

Bronx Science High School celebrated the Lunar New Year with its signature auction dinner on February 4th in Manhattan's Chinatown, featuring students' performance, silent auction, and new-year reception. About 400 teachers and parents gathered together in the restaurant. Committee Co-Chair Andrea Javaly indicated that Bronx Science usually holds a fundraising dinner on the first Friday of February; staging the event in Manhattan's Chinatown is quite special; this year being the Year of Rabbit, the venue was decorated with a Chinese character "Rabbit" and the event organized in the corresponding theme representing the School's excellent status in science and its aspiration to shed heat and light in the upcoming year. Distinguished alum New York City Comptroller John C. Liu also attended the event last night and was warmly welcome by all. The photo on the right shows the event hosts Andrea Javaly, Amy Tenenbaum and program coordinator and physics teacher Mr. Hom.